

Lynn Jones - a middle-aged suburban housewife

You never expected it would end like this. You were just taking the kids to see a musical, and then bang – you're dead. You wanted to grow old with Ralph, see Angel and Taylor grow up... Wait a second, what happened to Angel and Taylor? You just remember fire everywhere, people running for the emergency exit. But the door wouldn't open; someone must have blocked it from the other side. And now you're dead. Maybe they're dead too! You need to look around and find them; if you're all dead, at least you're all together. And there is a Heaven; the three of you can enjoy eternal life at God's side, and Ralph will join you there someday...

Hold on, though; Angel's been so rebellious lately, and they never come with you to church anymore; what if she doesn't want to go to Heaven? And little Taylor's been saying they wants to go to Valhalla ever since they saw that Thor movie... You need to find your children, set them straight, and guide them into Heaven; you're their parent, they have to listen to you!

Goals

- Locate your children.
- Go to Heaven with Angel and Taylor
- If you happen to find any kids or other young people without parents, you should make sure they're taken care of (although Angel and Taylor are your first priority.)
